You are invited to the Bushwalking NSW
May General Meeting Keynote Presentation:

How can we “Leave No Trace” when bushwalking?

To be presented by Sharon Fulcher
Environmental Educator and NPWS Conservation Volunteer

On Tuesday 16 May, 2017 at Redfern Town Hall

Ever think about the impact we are making on the bush while we enjoy great walking and outdoor adventures?

Like to get up to date with the latest in Minimal Impact Bushwalking?

Minimal Impact Bushwalking (MIB) strives to minimize our impact on the outdoors while allowing our immersion in it. Biosecurity is everyone's responsibility but has largely been missing from our MIB code. This presentation looks at the latest MIB information and resources as well as raising issues around biosecurity, and how bushwalkers can aid in keeping our environment 'clean'.

Sharon is an extremely experienced educator, a passionate bushwalker and conservation volunteer, and currently completing a Masters in Environmental Science. Sharon currently volunteers with the National Parks and Wildlife Services' WildCount and Hawkweed eradication programs, as well as helping to shape the Bushwalking NSW out on our “It's Sweet to Walk Soft” project. Sharon walks and leads walks for the National Parks Association of NSW and the NSW Coast and Mountain Walkers.
